FORTUNATE 500 ARTS

Michael Barnes AMERICAN-STATESMAN

ARTURO PALACIOS

If the East Austin art revolution recognized a guerrilla leader, it would be this quietly relentless — and sweet-natured — gallery owner with an eye for the next thing. The former gallery director for the City of Austin's Dougherty Arts Center, Palacios helped jumpstart DIY arts through Art Palace, placing works by young artists with the Austin Museum of Art, Blanton Museum of Art and Houston's Museum of Fine Arts. He throws a mean party, too.

PEOPLE'S COMMUNITY CLINIC

BECKY BEAVER

This stylish lawyer knows how to choose causes. The top tier of her social involvements includes Austin Children's Museum, Planned Parenthood of the Texas Capital Region, Ballet Austin, People's Community Clinic, Austin Museum of Art, Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center, Molly National Journalism Prize, KUT, KLRU, University of Texas and the Austin Community Foundation. When you dip into the second tier, your eyes bulge with admiration.

FORTUNATE 500 FOOD

2005 AMERICAN-STATESMAN

SHARON WATKINS

The twinkle-eyed owner of Chez Zee has been bringing people together over food for quite a while now. Among the beneficiaries of her social largesse are the UT Performing Arts Center, Austin Public Library Foundation, KLRU, Leadership Austin, Women Vote Friendship Lunch and Zach Theatre. We chatted with her at so many parties over the years it's like we're family.
